

EUROPEAN IMPASSE HELD BAR TO DISARMAMENT

Washington Sees No Hope of Early Action and Even Fears Change of Opinion in America

BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE

WASHINGTON, March 17.—On the basis of information it has received, the Washington government is inclined to regard the situation in Europe neither as promising immediate nor material advancement in the direction of disarmament.

The prevailing belief of informed government officials to-night is that the much-discussed meeting of the League of Nations preliminary disarmament commission will be still further delayed. Such action by the League Council is to follow the proposal made until September of delegates on the admission of Germany to membership in the League.

OPINION MAY SHIFT

As regards American participation in the disarmament meeting, it is virtually certain that it will remain assured so long as public opinion continues favorable. On the other hand, it is believed that the prevailing sentiment in favor of participation by the United States may be adversely affected if the disarmament discussions are projected still further into the future.

These and other possibilities became known today despite the refusal of Secretary Kellogg, Ambassador Houghton and Minister Gibson to comment on the armistice situation in any way. The

BUTTER AND EGG MEN HARD BILED

Resenting Implications of Song, One of Them Sues For $100,000

BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE
MINNEAPOLIS, March 17. Contending that in a song entitled "Butter and Egg" she used "certain tones and gestures to convey that all dealers in butter and eggs were men of immoral and licentious character," she will attend the trial of a suit by with differences of opinion between the European delegates, and that they will necessitate prolonged treatment by the participants, requiring probably a year or more of discussions.

DOUBT LASTING GOOD

From the information at hand, Washington authorities appear doubtful as to what, if any, real accomplishment finally may come out of the arms discussions.

Western Hemisphere governments, which have accepted invitations to participate do not actually want disarmament at this time, but will take part in the deliberations because of obligations imposed by the Versailles Treaty.

It is recalled in this connection that the treaty in effect pledged the United States to a disarmament program conditioned upon the dismemberment of Germany. That Germany has disarmed now is said to be no longer doubted.

LEAGUE SEEKS TO ALTER CODE

In an effort to bring about necessary alterations, especially along the lines of amending a repetition of the decision in 1923.

Chancellor Luther and Dr. Stremann left for Paris to take up the French financial and other internal problems.

While the French Premier was lauding the German delegation by Premier Briand, the next speaker, received a great ovation. After a statement and expression of the same regret over the assembly hall. The German Chancellor, whose knowledge of French is excellent, was profoundly impressed by the speech of the great French orator, while Dr. Stremann, after listening to an English translation, remarked simply, "Never before has any Minister said such a fine thing about Germany."

The resolution proposed by M. Briand, which was unanimously adopted, said:

"Will the Germans ever return to Geneva? This is the question occupying the minds of all. It is remarked that both Brazil and Spain, one of which planned to veto Germany's election, and the other, representing the League unless it obtained a permanent seat in the Council, will sit in the assembly hall. The German Chancellor, who is a member of the Council, will be present in December 31 of this year. The existing obstacles to the admission of Germany, therefore, will persist in September, when Germany is expected finally to enter the League."

In explaining Brazil's stand today, Senor Mello-Franco said Brazil is deeply interested in the peace for peace accomplished at Geneva because she was one of the pioneers in arbitration and conciliation, but at this time the admirable work of Locarno should find its place in the fabric of the League and not that the League should be made to exist as part of the political machinery of Germany.

The resolution proposed by M. Briand, which was unanimously adopted, said:

"The Assembly regrets that the great German nation is unable immediately to enter the League, because she would contribute great things to the League." The Brazilian Foreign Minister said:

Thus, referring to Brazil's projected veto of Germany for a permanent Council seat, he made the pronouncement:

"The instructions of my government are irrevocable and final."

TWO NATIONS CHEERED

Sen. Austin Chapman, in proposing nomination of Germany's election until September, describes Germany's demand for assurance of a permanent Council seat at the present session as just and reasonable, but, he added:

The statement by the representative of Brazil shows that the members of the Council are not in a position to give that assurance.

He evoked a long outburst of applause when he paid tribute to the great nation of Sweden and Czechoslovakia in offering to give up their nonpermanent seats in the Council to aid in a settlement.

"It is a tragedy," he said, "after the manifestation of nobility that unanimity of the Council could not be achieved. This is a bitter disappointment to me, but I am sure that adjournment of Minchinchun diplomatic representative informed the Associated Press that the Kuominchun had made a verbal reply to be communicated by the commander of the Taku fort to commanders of foreign warships concerning the attacking warship at Taku. The substance of the reply is as follows:

First.—The Kuominchun will undertake to observe the protocol of 1900 with the United States, Great Britain, France and Italy, which provides for the disarmament of forts at Taku at the mouth of the Pei River, and guarantees an open port.

Second.—Measures taken at Tien-tsin were purely defensive and intended to guarantee the safety of Tien-tsin. They will cease automatically when the danger has been averted.

Third.—Provided the powers guarantee that the Fangtang warship retire, thereby removing the danger to Tien-tsin, the Kuominchun will abandon measures being taken.

Fourth.—Urging investigation of Chinese passengers aboard all ships is necessary to safeguard Tien-tsin against infiltration of armed Pechengies likely to create disturbances in the city.

CONSULS CONFER

The foreign consul held a protracted conference with Chinese, presumably to consider a reply.

The Russian steamer Oleg, seized yesterday by warships of Chantao-ling, dictator of Manchuria, while conveying munitions to Tien-tsin, was held at Taku Bar. Chang's squadron from Fengtien has been joined by several transports loaded with troops.

Tien-tsin is thus manaced by Chinese forces both from the sea at Taku and by land from Lan-chow, 125 miles northeast, where there has been severe fighting recently.

INTERVENTION AT TIEN-TSIN PROTESTED

BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS
PEKING, March 17.—A group of American residents of Peking, representing the Rockefeler Foundation, Yenching University, a joint Christian institution, and the Presbyterian and Methodist missions, called on John V. A. MacMurray, the American minister to-day, and urged him to prevail on the Washington government to prevent American participation in possible armed action to reopen navigation of the Pei River to Tien-tsin.

The protocol powers have delivered an ultimatum to the Chinese to withdraw from hostilities in the Tien-tsin-Taku region, demanding that the blockade of Tien-tsin be raised. The ultimatum declared that if the Chinese had not complied by April 10, the foreign powers would take such measures as they found necessary.

The Americans who visited the minister today rejected the armed intervention and constitute a departure from America's traditional policy of friendship toward China and would not support the Chinese in their demands.

Up to late this afternoon the Chinese Foreign Office had given no indication of its attitude toward the ultimatum of the foreign powers, which control the Peking government, showed an inclination to view the matter from the standpoint of China's national dignity.

In unusual circumstances there was much talk of a Chinese appeal to the League of Nations.

PEKING MAINTAINS SILENCE ON ATTITUDE

BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS
PEKING, March 17.—With less than eighteen hours of the period of the power's ultimatum on the Pei River blockade yet to run, the League will soon welcome Germany into the fold, he added.

The entrance of Germany, he declared, had been partly impeded by a certain interest which the Kuominchun (national armies) controlling the Peking government, which control the Peking regime, it was said that while it is appreciated that the Kuominchun undoubtedly would profit from annexation of the power's territories, the Chinese have been viewed in the light of the national dignity. This was declared, was considered of great importance in the eyes of the people of the world.

M. Louton of Holland, voicing the general consternation over the outcome of the Assembly's extraordinary session, admitted that the League would suffer loss of prestige for some time.

"Put," he added, "it will be all the more our duty to enhance the League's prestige in the future."

Dr. Fridtjof Nansen of Norway, said:

The assembly applauded when M. Motta hinted that by adopting such an attitude Brazil might have obtained the permanent seat in the Council which she desired.

"We are able to resist this crisis, then the League has not lost its vitality," he said. "If the League should go down, the noise of its fall would be drowned by the roar of indignation of the peoples of the world."

"Put," he added, "it will be all the more our duty to enhance the League's prestige in the future."

Dr. Fridtjof Nansen of Norway, said:

The machinery of the League has not been used in an attempt at settlement of this problem, and therefore the League cannot be blamed.

He scolded the sittings of the Council group and the private sessions of the Council, complaining that no formal session of the Council or Assembly had been called to deal with the crisis.

JAIL ENDS HONEYMOON OF BANK-ROBBERY SUSPECT

San Francisco Stenographer Duped by Self-Admitted Participant in Los Angeles Hold-up

(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH)

SAN FRANCISCO, March 17.—After duping a stenographer into marrying on the pretense of being a wealthy to-be man and launching their honeymoon on worthless checks, James Kelly, alias James Wesley Morrison, asserted member of the trio who held up the Hellman bank in Los Angeles last year, was arrested at the Ferry Building tonight just as he was leaving with his bride of a few hours.

In a traveling gown worn by taken to the city prison with the actress bride, formerly Miss Desmond, 21 years of age, as the name of the sudden interruption of their honeymoon. The groom was recognized by Robert Schaefer, manager of the Pacific Jewelry Company, to whom a worthless check for $300 was given by Kelly in payment for a platinum wedding ring. The bride, amazed at the arrest of the man she believed to be the man in business and finance, was won out in the interview.

ACCEPTS MARRIAGE

The stenographer drank in his stories and when he proposed marriage she accepted. They went to the City Hall when the license bureau opened this morning and were finally married by Justice of Peace A. T. Barnett.

"You must now buy yourself a trousseau and wedding ring," she said Morrison told her. He then gave her a $500 check and opened an account for her with it in a bank. The check was worthless. Detective Sergeant Hansen and Charles Maher say,

"It was more money than I had ever had before all at once in my whole life." The stenographer wpt.

"I am right out to the department stores and bought $200 worth of clothes."

One of her purchases was the gray traveling frock which Schaefer spotted in the Ferry Building. After the marriage he paid for the ring. Schaefer investigated the check and found it bad. He had heard them mention leaving for Oakland, where Morrison said he had his car. Schaefer went to the Ferry Building and found the couple just as they had missed their boat.

IDENTIFIED AS CROOK

The couple was turned over to Detective Sergeants Hansen and Maher, who immediately identified the man as a crook who had served two terms in Leavenworth for mail robbery, one as a convict, and a year in the San Francisco County Jail on the same charge.

Miss Desmond was then sent back to the possession of the city prison, where all the delicate garments, which had been purchased by representatives of the victimized stores, Down to her linings and the girl's garments taken off. Her old traveling clothes which had packed in a traveling bag and never expected to have don again in her newly enriched circumstances were taken out and were transformed from a bride of wealth to a plainly dressed and much disfigured stenographer.

She is ignorant of her status having married the man under false pretenses, and the name of James Kelly when he was booked for forgery, and as a fugitive from justice in the city prison.

ADmits BANK HOLD-UP

Kelly admitted under questioning that he and three other men held up a bank in Kansas City and escaped with $27,000 after wounding a motor cop.

He also admits holding up the Hellman Bank in Los Angeles in 1925 with two confederates.

The police found that he had served a term in Leavenworth Federal prison, was released for impersonating a naval officer and a year in the local County Jail on a similar charge. In 1919 he again was sentenced to Leavenworth for impersonating a naval officer under the name of Paul Kelly. He was jailed in Jefferson City, Mo., in 1918 for robbery, and was arrested twice for forgery and released.

Mrs. Morrison pleaded her entire innocence of his criminal past. "If he fooled bankers and taxpayers, he is a fool, but he easily fool me," she cried. "I believed everything he said. I thought I was marrying into wealth. He seemed to be everything he said. Any man who could give me $600 and spending $100 for a trousseau seemed all right to me."

PRISONER ADMITS HOLLYWOOD BANK HOLD-UP

James Kelly, under arrest in San Francisco, admitted participation in the holdup of a Hellman's branch in Hollywood more than a year ago, according to a long-distance telephone message from Detective Lieutenant Barradas, Los Angeles, to Detective Lieutenant Poole in San Francisco.

Barradas, while working on another case, was told to return to the local County Jail on a similar charge. In 1919 he again was sentenced to Leavenworth for impersonating a naval officer under the name of Paul Kelly. He was jailed in Jefferson City, Mo., in 1918 for robbery, and was arrested twice for forgery and released.

Mrs. Morrison pleaded her entire innocence of his criminal past.

If he studied faithfully the court promised he would not have to serve the other twenty-seven days of a thirty-day sentence.

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE)

MANILA, March 17.—Second Lieutenant John S. Thompson of the United States Army was hanged early today for the murder of Miss Audrey Burleigh at Manila, April 5, 1925.

The execution occurred in a warehouse at Fort McKinley, only an officer and eight enlisted men being present.

Thompson spent yesterday with his spiritual adviser and his attorney in preparation for death.

He was the first American officer to be executed since the First World War.

Thompson's body will be sent home probably on the next trip of the transport Thomas and carried over to his parents at Far Rockaway, New York.

After his conviction Thompson insisted on shaving every day but from the time of the receipt of the news that President Coolidge had approved the death sentence he was placed in a straight jacket and shaved an attendant to prevent him from attempting suicide with his razor.

(SLAYER ADMITS HE TOOK GIRL'S LIFE)

Lieutenant Thompson, Signal Corps, United States Army, a graduate of West Point Military Academy in 1924, shot about 100 rounds at Miss Burleigh, 17-year-old step-daughter of Capt. P. Calmer, Medical Corps, early in the morning of April 5, 1925.

Thompson was engaged to marry Miss Burleigh.

He told his attorney that his salary was not sufficient to support a wife and that he had decided on the spur of the moment to kill the girl and end his own life, because he feared he would lose her if he wedded her.

Thompson drove from Fort McKinley, where he told his attorney he had danced at an amateur entertainment. He invited her to accompany him for a short drive.

He stopped at a gas station in Antonio Abad, Miss Burleigh tested against driving in that direction, according to the Filipinos chauffeur.

GIRL SHOT FIVE TIMES

After a brief argument, Thompson drew a revolver and killed the girl with five shots. He then combed the chauffeur's hair to cover his tracks.

He then drove to Fort McKinley, where he told his attorney he had shot corporal of the guard that Miss Burleigh's body was in the automobile, and requested that he be locked up.

"Execution can not be accomplished by the vote of three Presidents. It can be done in only two ways. One is by the approval and decree of the imperial government which can dissolve the confederation which made Canada of the individual Provinces. The other method is that used by Ireland."

The prosecution introduced testimony of several witnesses, including a medical board who had observed Thompson for a month. The physicians declared their belief that Thompson did not at any time suffer from any mental derangement, either temporary or permanent and is not suffering now.

When the court reassembled August 4, the prosecution read a signed confession by Thompson.

"Why did you decide to shoot Miss Burleigh?" he was asked.

Thompson replied:

"First and most important reason is the fact that I am a murderer and tried by court-martial. He pleaded not guilty.

His counsel, admitting that he had killed Miss Burleigh, attempted to prove absence of malice or premeditation. They obtained a conviction to show that he was innocent.

Commissioner Culbertson and support of Commissioners Culbertson and Lewis, prevented the laying aside of the sugar inquiry, the records showed, and the controversial problem was referred to Commissioner Glazier and Burgess and Chairman Marvin. In turn, withdrew from the investigation Culbertson, Lewis and Burgess all have since retired from the commission.

Commissioner Glazier's participation in the investigations, which has been the subject of considerable discussion because of the interest the sugar industry, the amount involved, ended at a meeting May 25, 1924, at which the sugar controversy started. The commission's report was transmitted to the President August 7, 1924, and executive later wrote three letters requesting additional data and a supplemental report was submitted November 17, 1924. The contents of the report were not disclosed in the minutes.

When the court reconvened Thompson declined to take the witness stand and would not permit his counsel to make a plea of insanity on his behalf, with the result that he was sentenced to be hanged.

The court then took a second adjournment until September to permit the attorney additional deposition from the United States.

When the court reconvened Thompson returned a verdict of guilty in the first degree and sentenced Thompson to be hanged. The verdict was reviewed by the Judge Advocate of the Phillipine War Department at Washington and finally by President Coolidge.

Thompson was 23 years of age and was an enlisted man before his appointment to West Point from Far Rockaway, Long Island, N. Y.

SEATTLE BASEBALL TRAINING CAMP (Hermosa Beach) March 18.—This matter of the eventual landing place of one Frank Brasil, hold-out third-sacker of the Seattle Indians, has one more Killefer scratching his head and wondering. Today it is Brasil's turn to laugh. A wire from Miss Kelly, proffer of John Hollingsworth and Babe Herman for the hard-hitting third-sacker, has come to him this afternoon. But Brasil telephoned Kelly not to deal for him, that he, Brasil, would not report under any circumstances to an eastern club and Kelly needed him.

Culver City to Offer Racing Pilots Richest Purse in West's Speedway History

LAP PRIZES TO ENHANCE TOTAL

Private Individual Puts Up Increase in Coin

Will Add $10,000 to Dough for Leadership

Three More Racers Qualified for Rich Classic

BY ROY A. MC MILLAN
The largest combined purse in the history of automobile racing in the West!

That's the announcement made last night by officials of the Speedway Corporation who are staging the Sunday 250-mile classic at Culver City. The money prizes offered by the Speedway are $25,000, the same sum as offered at previous race meets.

TEN GRAND
In addition there will be $10,000 in lap prizes. That is $250 for every one of the 200 laps, the man who leads at the end of every lap being given that sum.

The $10,000 is being sponsored by C. M. Fuller, president of the Richfield Oil Company and vice-president of the Speedway Corporation.

The offering of the additional prize money will act as a spur to the eighteen nationally famous drivers who will participate in the race next Sunday, it is believed, and records will be shattered.

In the posting of the extra $10,000 the Culver City track takes precedence over all other race courses in the country in the selection of the one at Indianapolis. There $100 a lap is offered for the Decoration Day classic.

There is but one motive in the offering of the lap money, according to those who have been acquainted with Mr. Fuller's aims.

AFTER RECORD

That is, getting back to the Culver City track for the fastest race in the world. Until two or three weeks ago it held that place, but then Peter De Paolo lowered the mark at Miami.

Now Mr. Fuller believes that the record holder, the man who leads at every lap, will be an inducement to more speed.

Out at the track yesterday afternoon the few race drivers who were there were "surprised" at the report, which filtered out. They are out for the money and if there is $10,000 lap money raised, or even any considerable fraction of that, the drivers will come through the turnstiles next Sunday afternoon will probably go home with the knowledge of having seen the fastest automobile race ever run.

Three of the racers qualified yesterday are running the race around the wooden bowl at a considerably faster pace than the minimum of 100 miles set.

Those who qualified are Earl DeVore at 126.3 miles per hour and Ralph Hubbard at 115.5 miles per hour. Peter D. Paoli took up two laps Monday at 132.3 miles per hour and let it be known yesterday that this would be his qualification entry. In addition to these qualified, Benny Hill and Frank Elliott, the latter winner of the last Culver City race, were out.

Artillery Polo Four Wins Over Santa Barbara

EXCLUSIVELY DISPATCH

SANTA BARBARA, March 17.—The Fort Bliss field artillery four won the Santa Barbara twelve-game championship event here this afternoon by defeating Santa Barbara by the score of 7-2.

An anticlimax to the "Big Game" yesterday, today's contest was a slip-shod affair throughout, at least on Santa Barbara's part. Fort Bliss players, however, made every effort to win by an overwhelming score.

New Zealand Envoy Here to Enlist Blackberry Foe
in Fight to Save Lands

(By A. P. NIGHT WIRE)

SACRAMENTO, March 17.—An insect St. Patrick to drive the blackberries out of New Zealand is being sought by a scientist from the Antipodes who conferred with the Director of Agriculture Hecke here today.

Blackberries, be it known, are far more of a pest in New Zealand than snakes ever were in Ireland. So the scientist in question, Dr. R. J. Tillyard, F.R.S., is not only a problem solver; he is engaged in the solution of a problem involving the life or death of New Zealand agriculture.

The European blackberry, he explained, is spreading so fast on the South Island of New Zealand that farmers are being driven from their lands by the encroaching bramble. The New Zealand government looks upon control of the blackberry as an outstanding agricultural problem confronting the country. Captain Thomas of Nelson, N.Z., sent Dr. Tillyard, the chief of its biological department abroad in search of an insect enemy of the blackberry with which to combat the "prickly pear" overran many agricultural sections and even towns," said Dr. Tillyard, "before the tide of battle turned. These ones, however, the insect could not be destroyed all of one species in the short space of one year. It refused to attack any other species, and some thirty different species, some being very fierce, were present and these, increasing in numbers, are mopping up the rest of the prickly pear in a hurry."

The insects which Australia found for the prickly pear manœuvred for the sake of economic value plants. Similarly, whatever bug or wings win the competition, the blackberry pest of New Zealand will first have to convince Dr. Tillyard that they do not intend to bite the hand that feeds them by destroying orchards and field crops also.

The government is looking for effective insect enemies of the earwig, which has become a serious orchard pest in New Zealand. He has hopes of finding them in the United States, where his best chance of finding the blackberry enemy he wants will be in Europe. A suitable insect enemy of the blackberry can be found, however, rope.

FARMER LOBBY UNDERGOES FIRE

Use of Threats and Backing by Financiers Charged

Surplus Crop Bill Pleaders Put on Defensive

Political Purposes Declared Back of Movement

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE) WASHINGTON, March 17.—The middle-western farm-relief delegation now here urging enactment of a surplus-crop bill had to withstand a double-barreled fire today from members of the House Agriculture Committee.

Some members of the committee paid their respects to those of the group who, they charged, were "attempting to intimidate Congress," and Representative Tincher, Republican, Kansas, asked who was financing the farm pro-growth movement.

F. W. Murphy of Wheaton, Minn., chairman of the executive committee of the American Council of Agriculture, the principal writer before the committee last day, disclaimed any effort to threaten Congress. Most of the expenses of the delegation, he said, had come out of the pockets of its members.

FINANCIER NAMED

Representative Tincher declared he understands Bernard Baruch, New York banker, prominent in the Democratic party, had contributed to the cause, but Mr. Murphy declared he had heard nothing of it.

THREAT DENOUNCED

Representative Rubey, Democrat, Missouri, defending Mr. Hirth, said he was sorry "the gentleman from Kentucky had been scared."

"They were running down my back," retorted Mr. Kincheloe. "But I object to having a cheap slate like that threatening this committee."

Representative Jones, Democratic, Texas, and Mr. Hirth's threat and those of some other witnesses "were not veiled, but unveiled."

Representative Tincher added that such methods would get them nothing.

SAY MATTEOTTI BADLY MAULED

Eight Witnesses Declare He Was Abducted by Four

State Mussolini Enemy Was Victim of Violence

Testimony Clashes With That of Asserted Slayer

(BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS) CHICAGO (Italy) March 17.—Eight witnesses testified today that the Socialist Deputy Matteotti was mauled about the body and struck on the head and forcibly abducted by four men in an automobile driven by Amerigo Dumini. These witnesses were placed on the witness stand in the prosecution at the trial of the Mussolini assassin, Amerigo Dumini, yesterday.

Mr. Dumini, whose body was found in a shallow grave near Rome two months after his disappearance.

Dumini, who was born in St. Louis, said yesterday that he had been kidnapped by two men.

The two men, identified as Amerigo Dumini and another, had seized him in the street and driven him to a dark room where they had tied him up and forced him to drink whisky.

Testimony regarding the fatal events on the afternoon of Feb. 12, 1926, showed that the arch enemy of Premier Mussolini was taken away from Rome by force, occupied the entire second day of his trial.

JUDGE INCENSED

A small crowd in the courtroom, mostly composed of women, listened listlessly to the proceedings.

The only lively moment came after a verbal tilt between Roberto Farinacci, for the defense, and Judge Danza, which caused the judge to take umbrage at a remark by the fiery secretary general of the Fascist party.

The outstanding feature of the day was the fact that the statement by the defense clashed with the stories of the accused men related at Tuesday's session, particularly that of Dumini, who said that he alone took Matteotti away in the automobile. Dumini's assertion that the Deputy was not physically injured was answered by a 12-year-old boy, Renato Bazzoli, who said he saw Matteotti punched in the stomach, and by another youth, Renato Bianchini, who said that the Deputy was abducted by his father had purchased just before he died. He admitted, too, that there were other mistakes, which any business man is liable to make.

"When Seymour Morris died," Mr. Platt told the court, "it was deemed essential by Mr. Leiter and Mrs. Cuine Campbell, his sisters, that someone should be chosen to care for his trust fund. Lady Suffolk submitted a list of bankers who were better fitted to be directors of a corporation than to manage the routine of an estate of this size."

"William J. Ward, who was appointed to fill the vacant trusteeship, was for six years in the employ of Mr. Leiter and had charge of matters of importance."

CINDERELLA ROLE

The attorney for the defense also touched on incidents that are part of the history of labor unions in Illinois in his comments on the Zeigler mine, which was one of the last antinomian strongholds in the state.

Mr. Quilliet, former chief editor of Forriore Italiani, described how the kidnapping car, which he said was used by the kidnappers, left his garage the night of the crime. It showed evidence of a struggle, he said. There were blood stains in it and also a pair of scissors as such are used in newspapers offices, he wrote.

It was during Quilliet's testimony that he said to Signor Farinacci, "don't let us exaggerate."

The Fascist secretary-general replied him: "For the sake of the morality of this trial I desire to make three statements: First, that the Corrieri Italiani never was the organ of the Fascist party; second, that Filippelli never was a member of the party; and, third, that we consider the preliminary findings against Filippelli as one of the darkest pages in Italian political life."

Mr. Filippelli was editor of the Corrieri Italiani. He was arrested in connection with the killing of Matteotti but was acquitted at the preliminary hearing.

ATO DESCRIBED

She said she found their rooms had not been occupied at 6 o'clock on the evening of the crime. Other employees of the hotel corroborated the chambermaid.

IMPORTANCE OF CAVALRY GROWS

Results of British Army Maneuvers Studied

Mounted Troops Must Pierce Operations' Screen

Dismembered Formation to be Future Form

BY FREDERIC J. HASKIN
(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH)

WASHINGTON, March 17.—The results of the 1925 British army maneuvers refute statements that the cavalry is becoming obsolete and will have no important place in another war. In fact it has been said that judging from these results the cavalry "holds a future as brilliant as its past." The London press reports an official decision based on the maneuvers, announcing the urgent need of more cavalry.

That the cavalry is viewed with increasing respect by other nations is indicated by the recent announcement that Japan is about to establish an extensive remount service. In many European countries the cavalry is receiving particular attention and is being reorganized. It is realized that the cavalry must be able to fight as well as to maneuver.

USES OF CAVALRY

In a recent article Gen. N. N. Golovine, of Russia, replies to the question, "In what shall the striking power of the modern cavalry consist, if the mounted shocks have become lessened?" He says: "He says that in the first place cavalry must be able to break through the screen with which every operation of an army is covered in the theater of war. At the beginning of a battle the cavalry must be able to occupy quickly advantageous points of the terrain, pushing back the enemy advance units which have been sent out to take possession of them. It must be able to cover the enemy units during the task of protecting the enveloped flank and rear. Finally, it must be strong enough to break the resistance of some rear-guard units engaged in holding up their own body's pursuit. Thus Gen. Golovine continues, it may be said that modern cavalry has not only become the arm of maneuver but also of the fight of encounter."

Officers of the cavalry were "led" by their officers. The individual was lost in the charging masses. In this day, however, the quickened tempo of maneuvering necessitates a dismounted formation in which every subordinate leader is faced with the alternative of dismounting and slowing down the maneuver, or of taking a chance and continuing it mounted with a view to finding opportunity present itself. In view of this, the opinion is expressed that the modern cavalry should be made up of dismounted, higher cavalry and not of cavalry.

It is noted that the Germans have arrived at the same conclusion. Gen. Von Posen of the German cavalry says, "With pain in heart one must confess that the times of mounted mass encounters have passed."

He further states that at the beginning of the World War German cavalry units were used for dismounted fighting but that gradually this became the usual thing. He strongly protests against turning the cavalry into mounted infantry. The latter consists of mounted riflemen while the general opinion is that modern cavalry should consist of horsemen who are excellent shots and who sit on well-trained horses.

MUST CO-OPERATE

In modern warfare the cavalry must co-operate much more closely with other branches of the army than it formerly did. Cavalry units should not be so concerned with their capability of independent action as with the ease with which they may be included into the organization of other units. Since the infantry division is the basic tactical unit, its interests come first, and therefore an army which is looking for a war of movement must provide its cavalry divisions with strong cavalry.

Lieut.-Col. Kenyon A. Joyce of the United States Cavalry, who was an observer of the British army maneuvers last fall, says that although much has been said of the tactical advantage of moving infantry in motor trucks, an analysis of the various British field exercises would indicate that long columns of motor vehicles carrying infantry such as machine gun target, for aircraft and artillery that they can not be used successfully in areas close to the enemy. That is, if these columns are tied to the roads.

Col. Joyce expresses the opinion that unless the army utilizes motor trucks for the transportation of troops has practically complete control of the air and a clear superiority of artillery. The cavalry would be more hazardous in areas other than those far removed from enemy contact. A bomb at the head of a column and several bombs in its length would effectively block any truck train and put the troops out probably many miles from their intended point of disembarkation.

TUNNEL TO RUM STORE

Boys in Towns Rob Vancouver Warehouse after Digging Hole

BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE
VANCOUVER (B. C.) March 17. Four youths in their teens were yesterday caught carrying liquor from a British Columbia distillery warehouse at Burnaby, near here. The boys had built a quarter-mile tunnel to a point under the warehouse and had sawed a hole through the floor.

They were selling whisky at $1 a bottle and beer at $10 a barrel.

The youths declared that getting out the beer was easy because the tunnel was built with a slight incline and the kegs could be rolled down by gravity to the Burnette River.

MCFADDEN BILL CHANGES GIVEN

Sartori Comments on Action of Senate Committee

Believes Elimination of Hull Amendments Important

Bank Branches in Contiguous Territory Permitted

Elimination of the so-called Hull amendments, intended to restrict, so far as possible, the extension of branch banking in the future, is the most important change in the McFadden bill as reported to the Senate by the Senate Committee on Banking and Currency for action within the near future, according to a statement made yesterday by J. F. Sartori, president of the Security Trust & Savings Bank. The changes were made in the House bill.

"To make the changes," Mr. Sartori said, "it was provided that even if in the future a State which does not now permit branch banking should authorize branch banking, even though only city-wide, it would not be permitted to have any branches. The Hull amendments also made it impossible for State banks to join the Federal reserve system without giving up branches outside the city of the head office.

OTHER CHANGES
A scarcely less important change is given to State member banks the right to have branches in cities and towns contiguous to the city in which the head office of the bank is located. If, in the comptroller's discretion, after a public hearing, the needs of the community require it,

"a third important change is the permission to State member banks to establish new branches in contiguous cities and towns through the same above noted.

"The McFadden bill at time sought to deprive State member banks of existing branches, but Section 9 did propose to restrict State bank members in the future to city branches. While the McFadden bill in its present form is not entirely what it originally set out to do, the principle of the retention by State member banks of their full charter and statutory rights while members of the Federal reserve system, nevertheless, does remain in the bill, as far as I can see."

BILL PERUSED

"A perusal of the bill reveals the very interesting fact, not previously mentioned in the newspaper dispatches which I have seen, that provision is made for the extension of the Federal reserve system until 'dissolved' by act of Congress or until incorporation of franchises by state law. While the direct chartering of the Federal reserve banks, this section nevertheless provides for their continuance until dissolved by act of Congress."

Sweetwater Net Earnings in Year Shown

Net earnings of the Sweetwater Water Corporation for the year ended December 31, last, after all charges, including depreciation, amounted to $72,132.70, according to the company's annual statement filed yesterday by Hunter, Pulin & Co., who underwrote $450,000 of the company's first mortgage bonds in January, 1920.

The company supplies domestic and irrigation water to National City, San Marcos and parts of San Diego County. The bond issue has been reduced to $360,000 outstanding as of December 31, last.

Net earnings in 1925 were more than four times the interest requirements, and almost four times combined interest on bonds and notes payable. The properties of the company are now carried on the books at $1,598,169, and there are $90,000 of capital stock outstanding.

Gross earnings in 1925 were $201,938.88, expenses and depreciation, $103,538.62. Bond interest and interest on notes payable, $25,261.

The Clearinghouse News of Spring Street

Rex B. Goodell, Collector of Internal Revenue for Southern California and candidate for Governor at the Republican primaries, will be the principal speaker at a dinner meeting of the Newcomer's Club of the Mines Industry League in the studios of the Los Angeles Athletic Club tomorrow evening.

Judge Goodell will speak on "The Future of the Land and Independence of the Mineral Industry in Its Bearing Upon the Prosperity of the State, and the Necessity for Encouragement of Those Engaged in Legitimate Development."

C. M. Fickert, formerly District Attorney of San Francisco, will be chairman of the meeting.

Advertising Agency Pays

The McFadden Advertising Agency, of national scope, has declared its ninth consecutive monthly disbursement to stockholders at the average rate of at least 20 per cent, according to an announcement made by the company yesterday.

New Financing Expected

The sum of 190,624 shares of common stock of the Lambert Company, which was recently purchased by Goldman, Sachs & Co. and Bond & Goodwin, Inc., is expected to be offered on the Pacific Coast today, according to an announcement made late yesterday by the local office of Bond & Goodwin & Tucker, Inc.

STANDARD HEAD EXPECTED SALES OF PAPER BUSINESS INDEX

President of New York Company to Join Magnolia Officers Here, is Report; Merger Still Alive

BY EARL E. CROWE

Although reports from New York last week had stated that an announcement concerning a merger of General Petroleum and Standard Oil of New York would be made by Wednesday of this week, nothing of an official nature came to light yesterday. There were, nevertheless, some interesting stories going the rounds, and enough genuine information to suggest that negotiations may still be in progress.

From a reliable source, it was learned that H. L. Johnson, president of Standard Oil of New York, was expected to arrive in Los Angeles last night. He will join, so it was said, a party of Magnolia Petroleum officials now in the city, in this group being E. R. Brown, president of Magnolia Petroleum; W. C. Proctor, vice-president and treasurer, and W. H. Francis, vice-president and general counsel.

MEETING RUMORED

Magnum Petroleum, a subsidiary of Standard Oil of New York, the company that the gossip has connected with General Petroleum. It has been presumed that the intention of Standard Oil of New York is to combine Magnum with General Petroleum in large blocks that can be obtained. The gravities of the oil from the different California fields perhaps are lower than in the Mid-Continent and East, but gasoline from Signal Hill production, for example, is widely known in the market for its superior qualities. It is from this production that the Standard Oil makes its antiknock gasoline.

It is the opinion of the leading California companies that the demand factor in the trades now under discussion and already considered in the last few months.

PAPER PRODUCTION

The way he looks at production is to estimate the value entirely on the location of the oil. He has offered to pay as high as $100,000 for production twenty years old, and knew that it would pay out in eight or ten years. On a large production of around $50,000 to $60,000 bbls. per day, his offer would mean paying in at least $2000 a barrel for California oil.

It is much easier, this man believes, for the trade to estimate the value of production in California than in Oklahoma and Texas. The sands are thicker and properly drilled, will prove live.

Perhaps this glimpse at trading men's thoughts light on the market rivalry for the purchase of Associated Oil. In combining Tidewater production with Associated production, Standard Oil of New Jersey has been instrumental in the two merger stocks hung around, however, long after the close of the market without learning anything to satisfy their hopes.

PRODUCTION SOUGHT

Apparently there is more than a desire to have State member banks of existing branches, but Section 9 did propose to restrict State bank members in the future to city branches. While the McFadden bill in its present form is not entirely what it originally set out to do, the principle of the retention by State member banks of their full charter and statutory rights while members of the Federal reserve system, nevertheless, does remain in the bill, as far as I can see.

QUOTATIONS FOR COTTON TURN DOWN

Unsettled Conditions in Europe Chief Disturbing Factor on Market

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, March 17.—The cotton market was irregular and somewhat unsettled all of today. It had a weak opening on the lower early Liverpool cables than due to the fact that the market was calm as a result of breaking down of negotiations for admission of Germany into the League of Nations.

A good deal of liquidation of futures occurred on the Liverpool market and sharp break at one time marked the English market.

Both recovered sharply, however, and with futures at Liverpool finishing with a net advance of 2 to 3 of their points on the day, as far as was due, there was a good rally here. The market did not hold, however, as sentiment here was much too mixed for bullish activity.

More scattered local liquidation and southern selling occurred, and the market declined the early advances of 5 to 10 points for the active months from yesterday's closing quotations, as Liverpool's closing cables were pulled and sent the market back in the afternoon to a decline of about 10 points from yesterday's final prices.

Mining Market Active

From the looks of things around the Stock Exchange during the last two or three days it would appear that a mining boom in California was almost here. Old mines are being opened; new ones are being discovered. Activity is general in many different mining sections.

Stocks are active and some of them are advancing by leaps and bounds. It is hard to have a mining boom there will be much money made and unfortunately, much money lost. The discerning buyer investigates before spending his money. We suggest that you proceed cautiously, and instead of buying on a "bunch" or a "tip," buy or actually investigate the merits of a proposition before putting your money into it.

There is a lot of difference between a mining prospect and a mine. If there is actual, tangible value back of the shares you buy, your chance for a profit is just as good and your chance of a loss is greatly reduced.

We execute orders to buy or sell securities in all markets. It doesn't make any difference what mining stock you want to buy, it doesn't matter whether you want to buy or sell. We want your business and will give it prompt and personal attention whether it is to buy or sell one share or 10,000. Immediate delivery, if buying; immediate settlement, if selling.

You are invited to call, telephone or write regarding any stock you may be interested in.

Most Wives Aren't Business Economists

Naturally enough. But their husbands should help them. Especially if it would save money for the family.

Men understand why a store whose policy is "small margin of profit based on large volume of sales" is a good store to depend on. You can explain it to your wife in your own language. Ask her to see and compare at this store. She will agreeably surprise herself and you. She will find that prices are lower or that she can get more for her money. It will be a profitable lesson in business economics. BARKER BROS., Complete Furnishers of Successful Homes, Seventh Street, Flower and Figueroa.

NEW YORK CURB STOCKS

Active Issues Loose Ground
(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE)

NEW YORK, March 17.—Trading in today's curb market was extremely dull, with most of the active issues losing ground in sympathy with the reaction on the "big board." With few exceptions net declines were small.

Oils fluctuated within narrow and irregular limits, the increase in crude petroleum last week having a restraining effect on pool operations in the market. Gasoline dropped 1 point, but most of the other so-called Standard Oil shares showed only nominal recessions. Heavy liquidation of Gibson Oil, which sold off one point, featured the independent group. American oils yielded fractionally.

Baking and merchandising issues yielded on the back wash of the bear drive against these groups on the New York Stock Exchange. New Service (200) dropped to 42 1/2, a new low record. Continental Baking A and B dropped 1 1/2 and 1 point, respectively, and the general baking issues showed fractional declines. Metropolitan Chain Stores topped 4 points to a new low at 88.

Electric refrigeration issues were heavy. Servel Corporation sagged 1 1/2 points to 22 on reports of new plant construction. General Electric fell back 1 1/2 to 45 1/2. Land Company of Florida touched a new low at 22 1/2.

Speculative interest in the public utility field was low, with Net declines of a point or so recorded by Electric Bond and Share, United Gas Improvement and United Light and Power.

Automobiles were steady, with the same as the day before and close to the same as the high. Sales are in decline.

Gardens Safe, Side-Show Gets Freak Rooster

(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH)

NEWARK (N. J.) March 17.—Spring is upon us, even now, though Winsted, Ct., and Middlebury, N. Y., have failed the country. For Newark today weighed in with a three-legged rooster, limping close on the heels of a double-headed goat. From now until July oil will be discovered all along the Atlantic seaboard and gold will come out of Bronx subway excavations.

This Newark rooster is bona fide, but like most roosters, had need for only two legs, therefore often walks on two. As to whether "Limpy" the rooster, or Frank Palumbo, the bologna dealer, scratch up the neighbors' garden seed may never be known, worse luck, for "limpy" is destined to give up saprophytic of Coney Island cheap entertainment for the rest of his unnatural life.

mining stocks in the same division tumbled for record losses.

Western Lead, which opened at $2.20 a share, fell to 75¢ low for the day, 71 1/2¢, only 5 cents above the price at which it was listed on the exchange. A strong rally forced it up to a close of $1.90 yesterday afternoon.

Yesterday's sales in Western Lead totalled 241,110 shares. Nearly 152,600 shares were traded in two hours during the morning.

Yesterday's "slide" was in line with the action of the stock for several preceding days when the market was declining. High—$1.90 a share last Monday—and touching 73¢ a share a few days before, zig-zagged up and down the board.

The total volume of trading in Old security is said by experienced stock brokers to have equalled, if not surpassed, all previous records in similar securities, averaging more than 160,000 shares a day for nearly a week and selling for less than 300,000 shares last Monday.

While members of the Corporation Commissioner's office would not discuss the subject, it was admitted that the commissioners' actions against the brokers had no immediate connection with the erratic movements of the stock in the last week. Brokers generally say they have some time left in investigation by the Corporation Department was under way.

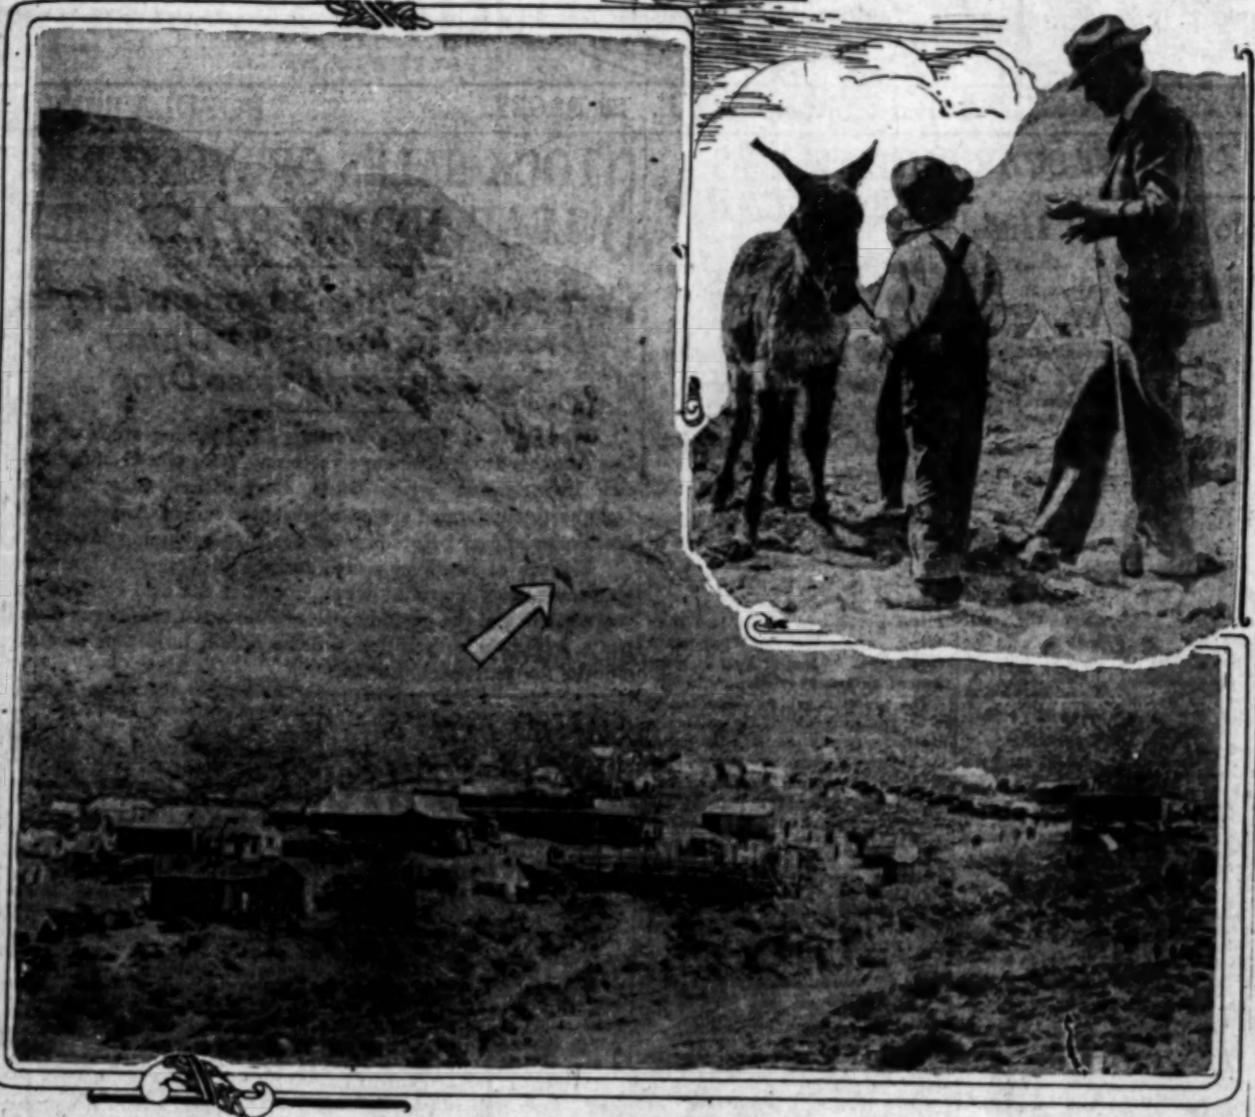

Members of the Los Angeles Stock Exchange, in dealing in Western Lead stock, are merely performing their legitimate functions as brokers, Frank C. Julian, president of the exchange, said yesterday in commenting on the summons served several members of the exchange by the State Corporation Department to explain transactions.

"It is not our business," Mr. Pettingell said, "to determine whether a price is fair or unjust. We, as members of an organized market, furnish a place where buyers and sellers meet, and we offer services as brokers to complete transactions in securities regularly listed."

"In my thirty-four years in the brokerage business I have never advised a client to buy or sell a stock or recommended any security. No broker dealing in listed securities is in a position to analyse the true worth of a stock. Prices sooner or later will adjust themselves through the operations of an open market, such as this exchange is, because a large number of buyers and sellers are given an opportunity to express their opinions."

Mr. Julian said he understood that the application to list Western Lead passed through the regular channels, and was approved by the board of governors only after the board was satisfied that all listing requirements had been met.

Frank L. Gardner of Banks-Huntley &amp; Co., one of the governors of the exchange, who also was summoned yesterday to appear before the Corporation Department expressed the same opinion. As a former member of the listing committee, Mr. Gardner said that the stock submitted by Western Lead convinced him that the company was not in a position to do business than the great majority of mining listings submitted to the exchange.

"In considering listings," Mr. Gardner explained, "we are concerned about the company's finances, the worth of its assets, the distribution of stock, and other matters necessary for the protection of investors. The Western Lead application showed a satisfactory amount of cash on hand and sufficient money to continue development of the mine. The engineer's reports submitted were on only one section of the property, and we are not in a position to conduct an independent investigation of any mining claims. It also showed something more than 300 stockholders, or a reasonable distribution to justify listing."

Should the Corporation Department's hearings reveal unfavorable information on Western Lead, Mr. Pettingell declined to say what action the Los Angeles Stock Exchange would take. That, he said, is a matter for the board of governors to consider.

Western Lead stock was passed by the listing committee of the Los Angeles Stock Exchange January 25 and was called on the board for trading January 26. The stock opened at $1.50 a share and rose steadily.

The Western Lead Mines Company is incorporated under the laws of Nevada. Mr. Berger is a mining man from Alaska and at one time was a director in the Julian Petroleum Corporation, under Mr. Julian. Mr. Roth was associated with Mr. Julian in the preparation of the company's articles of incorporation.

We find that there is only one lock on the elevator doors. Either a vestibule, with a double-lock system, should be established in front of each elevator door with a guard chain or a combination lock should be placed on the elevator doors, operated with a separate lock inside and outside the elevator door, to insure against future breaks in this direction.

(4) It is the recommendation of this committee that each inner guard corridor, where it connects with the outer guard corridor, now open, be immediately closed. We are informed that the mechanical equipment of the court is now working on this recommendation.

That the facilities of Western Lead, as shown on the Los Angeles Exchange, have been under investigation by the Corporation Commissioner has been generally known for several months. Shortly after the stock was called for trading, a number of State investigators appeared in the offices of Los Angeles brokers and asked to be allowed to examine the books covering transactions in Western Lead.

The state's action was preceded by several days of rumors on "the street" that something was to "happen" to Mr. Julian's stock.

The Engineering and Mining Journal-Press, in its issue of February 21, commented on the same publicity campaign, writing on by Mr. Julian and questioning engineer's reports quoted by Mr. Julian in his advertising.

JULIAN'S ANSWER

When the first rumors of impending action against Western Lead securities swept the financial district, Mr. Julian published a large advertisement in which he stated that the Corporation Commissioner to seek all desired information from him and not from the brokers interviewed by his investigators. In this advertisement Mr. Julian for the first time gave some details of the financial structure of his company when he declared that there was more than $400,000 in cash in the treasury, that $125,000 had been expended by the company in developments, and that 100,000 shares of stock were still available.

He also made known that he had entered into a contract with the company to finance its complete program for ore production and that he would advance the necessary funds to prevent the company being unable to pay for any reason to complete its plans. This money, Mr. Julian declared, was not to be paid back to him until the company had paid out in cash dividends $1,000,000 or more.

arrangement. Aguirre is a man who can fill the position and I tried to grant Croushorn his wish to be relieved. But under the circumstances it was impossible.

"He has been given full power to fire summarily any employee of the jail who is not on his toes and does not do the right thing. He will act in an advisory capacity to Croushorn, and it is to find out where the faults lie and he will correct them, I am certain.

"I wanted to grant Croushorn's wish, but Aguirre didn't want to be jailer. He will remain in the jail for a definite period."

Croushorn's written resignation was the second he has tendered to Traeger since the jail break. His first was a verbal offer and was refused, as was written resignation.

"Since moving into the new jail on February 1st, and for some time before, I have been devoting from sixteen to eighteen hours per day to work as jailer. During this period I have spent only two nights at my home, and have now reached the point where, I believe, my physical condition demands that I take a rest."

"In regard to the above, it occurs to me that possibly a better and more efficient man might be found to fill the position of jailer to the end that conditions in the jail might be improved, and therefore, I will, with your approval, that, at your convenience, I be relieved of my present duties in order that I may obtain a much-needed rest, and that thereafter I be given some other assignment within your department, if, in your judgment, I am qualified and deserving."

"In making the above request, I wish to assure you that I am most deeply appreciative of the consideration you have received from myself, from Mr. Biscaccia, Mr. Wright and many others of your department, and to tell you that I will always be glad of the opportunity that I have had of working under you."

OFFICER FORTY YEARS

Aguirre has been a peace officer in Southern California for forty-one years. He was warden of San Quentin from 1892 to 1903 during the term of Gov. Gage; he was the first constable of Los Angeles; he served as sheriff of this county for 1898 until 1900, and he was county jailer in 1907 under former Sheriff Hammel.

Yesterday and last night the search for three of six fugitives who escaped from the jail on Tuesday and are still at large continued unabated by more than 300 officers under Chief Criminal Deputy Sheriff Wright and Capt. Peoples. The officers ran down the day, but none proved productive.

The prisoners still at large are Harry J. Clark, convicted of the slaying of Charles Silva, in the "red-rose girl" murder at San Pedro; Charles J. Fitzgerald, accused slayer of Motorcycle Officer Elmer Griffin of San Gabriel, and Robert Wilson, suspected highway robbery.

The grand jury adjourned yesterday after filing its report with Judge Keetch, but will take up its investigation again today under the direction of Chief Dep. Dist.-Atty. Fitts. According to Fitts, more than twenty-five witnesses will be on hand when the jury meets this morning.

TO HEAR PRISONERS

Among the witnesses to be examined today, Fitts declared, will be a number of prisoners who escaped from the jail and were recaptured as well as several trustees. It was learned yesterday the grand jury will sit on the fourth floor in the management of the jail and its construction, will fire the opening gun today in an investigation to determine responsibility for those conditions.

Supervisor Bean had little to say when he was shown a copy of the grand jury's report.

"I have no kick to make on the report," he asserted. "The changes recommended by the grand jury are all now being put in with a few exceptions. The Supervisors, in addition, probably will co-operate with the county government with the expectation that they will be immediately acted upon. The responsibility for the correction of these defects is the conjunction of the county and those responsible parties to comply with these recommendations will be made the subject of future action by this grand jury."

This emergency report does not recommend any specific action to be taken, but the investigation will continue.

"As to the report on the jail conditions I have no comment to offer.

One of the "tips" dispatched to the Sheriff's office yesterday in the search for the fugitives took a posse of the deputies to an orchard near Burbank, where it was reported Clark had been seen. The fugitive was later identified as a workman on his way home to lunch.

Hospitals were closely watched yesterday after a man, who was believed to be Wilson, was found shot in the head at the hospital.

Conditions at the jail yesterday were described as terrible.

Orders were issued to all workmen to turnkeys by Traeger and Biscaccia to clean up all tools and other implements after they finish their work in the building. This was to prevent a reoccurrence of Wednesday's fight when E. M. Daniels knocked unconscious with a brass lever.

Daniels yesterday appeared at the County Jail to make a report to Croushorn on his knowledge of the jail conditions.

Conditions at the jail yesterday were described as terrible.

The most egotistical man in the world, Walker asseverated, couldn't have stood for that. An apology for the ad was made in a later issue, he said, and he thought he should not be required to pay for that.

"Mitchie" Alkire, testifying for the magazine, said Walker had approached the advertising account.

Judge Stafford allowed the magazine to publish the advertisement, he said, but Walker should be required to pay for the protest and the apology, but made the allowance for subsequent ads.

Instead, it haws him out for causing a

Tom Moore wrote a famous piece

STEAL ONE'S PREFERENCE
The opposition among Senators to the fact that the idea is rather new. Their are awfully fond of gag, provided they're old enough.

Mrs. Modell McCormick, daughter of Mark Hanna and widow of an Illinois Senator, is likely to be the Presidential candidate of the Women's party—if they put a ticket of their own in the field. Mrs.
McCormick was brought up on politics and knows her Washington like a primer, but there isn't much chance for the election of a woman just because she is a woman.
That is what a nomination by the Women's party would mean.

THE HOT DOG
The hot dog is just coming into the ken of the English people and it is described as an American delicacy. A British paper speaks of it as being a succulent vian of much popularity at Coney Island and other American resorts. Perhaps the Brits have forgotten that the original frankfurter and wienerwurst were made in Germany. It is only the manner of serving that is American. We developed the sandwich idea with the horseshoe or mustard trim. But if the Brits let them go to it. A "dog" might well feel puffed up at being dignified as a succulent vian or a delicacy.

TOO MANY LAWS
The Massachusetts Legislature has appointed a committee to look up obsolete and foolish legislation now in the statutes of the State, with the purpose of repealing the same. Every assembly might well have a standing committee on deadwood with the object of getting rid of some of the unnecessary laws that clutter up the books and embarrass the courts. The country would feel better if Congress and the various State legislatures devoted about half of their time to undoing the mistakes of former solons. There are over 200,000 laws, ordinances and regulations we are supposed to obey and for the life of us we can't remember more than half of them.

THE MENTAL SLUMP
The head of the psychopathic laboratory in Chicago reports a 25 per cent increase in mental defectives. He says that out of some 2500 persons sent to him last year for examination from the various Chicago courts over 2000 were insane or feeble-minded and most of the remainder were border-line cases. According to his charts the average American of 1925 will be a spinal child as compared with the ordinary adult of today. He is inclined to place a lot of the responsibility for this mental slump upon a multiplicity of laws.
People used to have will power and self-control, but laws and regulations have now been substituted for this form of intellectual government and now a man either does as he is commanded or else escapes the issue by trick or device. The old sense of personal responsibility is now lacking.
Of course, the professor is speaking mainly of and for Chicago, where crime and misanity are fairly well entrenched.

DUBTFUL PROPAGANDA
One sometimes can form a fairly accurate judgment as to the value of proposed legislation by the class of opposition it awakens, just as a man's character may be judged by the character of his enemies. And the doubtful character of a measure that appears harmless at first glance is sometimes disclosed by the character and vehemence of its supporters.
The effect of the propaganda for or against a measure is marred by its vehemence, and the propaganda miscarries because too much enthusiasm often does more harm to a cause than total indifference.

Just now the Civil Liberties Union is distributing literature throughout the country for the purpose of influencing public opinion on a number of bills introduced in Congress. It is significant to observe that most of the bills which this group opposes are, according to the statement in its own literature, "administration measures."

Two bills whose purpose is a closer supervision of aliens in this country have awakened the extreme wrath of the Civil Liberties group. The propaganda comment on these measures is as follows:

The Aswell bill, providing for the registration of all aliens over 16 on the penalty of deportation, is described by the union as "creating a system of espionage and intimidation unknown in this country. It would treat the alien population as quasi-criminal." The Holiday bill, which provides for the deportation of undesirable aliens and aliens who commit offenses for which one-year penal sentence is imposed, has the support of the administration, the union declares, and is "an unnecessary measure as when it was first introduced" in the last session of Congress.

This is one of the "items" of the so-called press service of the Civil Liberties Union. It is so worded as to be available for reading space, as though prepared in the newspaper office. While a pamphlet sent out by this pseudo-press service is strong in its denunciation of the Holiday bill, the only argument that it uses against it is that the bill is unnecessary. If it confers no new powers on any government department, why should the union be so alert in its opposition?

The intent of the bill is clear. The aliens are here under sufferance. They have not acquired the rights of citizenship, and if they develop such criminal tendencies, why should they not be deported?

If the bill were unnecessary it would not be likely to be carrying administration support.

Registration of aliens, as proposed by the Aswell bill, has been advocated for some time by Secretary of Labor Davis, and such legislation is said to be regarded with favor by the Department of Justice and by the President. The object of both bills is to check the present flood of lawlessness. But the Civil Liberties group has not yet discovered that such a flood exists or it would have us control the flood without building dykes. Public opinion is not likely to be affected by the kind of propaganda the union is using against these bills.

One measure for which the union waxes warm in its praise is a resolution by Senator Wheeler calling for an investigation by the Senate Committee on Education and Labor "of the activities of private detective working as spies in industry, the system known as industrial espionage. Labor spies acting as secret employees of industrial organizations foment discord in the organizations and create strife. Senator Wheeler will press the resolution if enough interest is shown by labor and by citizens generally."

The purport of the resolution is easily understood. But one smiles at the anomalous of the Civil Liberties Union, pretendedly organized to protect the rights of citizens against government encroachment, advocating government interference with the conduct of private business. It would deny to an employer the right to make investigations concerning the state of mind and general satisfaction or dissatisfaction of his employees. Such investigations are often necessary for the good of the service, to correct wrongs as well as to protect the interests of the employer. It would be as senseless to propose a law forbidding the owner of an automobile to have his machine overhauled at stated times by an expert mechanic.

To deny an employer the right to investigate the condition of his own business is apparently the idea of the union of much popularity at Coney Island and other American resorts. Perhaps the Brits have forgotten that the original frankfurter and wienerwurst were made in Germany. It is only the manner of serving that is American. We developed the sandwich idea with the horseshoe or mustard trim. But if the Brits let them go to it. A "dog" might well feel puffed up at being dignified as a succulent vian or a delicacy.

DUMB DORA—AND DAVID
A severe verbal spanking is administered to Dumb Dora by Charles Phelps Cushing in the Independent. But it is unlikely, even though this young lady should struggle through this article, with neatly manicured fingers on line, that she is going to feel in the least injured by the castigation or that it is going to help her in the slightest toward mending her peculiar ways.

Mr. Cushing is somewhat impartial in his fagellations. He not only scourges what Tennyson would have called our "splendidly null" Dora, but he also beats the public to a pulp for having permitted her to secure a "stranglehold" upon his literature as well as its stage and screen productions. He says she queens it over the movies, the radio, the theater and even music and books. Everything has to come down to the level of her taste and serves exclusively her own peculiar ideas of what constitutes entertainment. She has begun, he says sadly, to demand the exit from the popular magazines of all writers who use words of more than one syllable and who treat topics with which she doesn't happen to be entranced. And the public quickly submits to her tyranny.

In sporting parlance Mr. Cushing has "overslept a bit." While he was scouring Dumb Dora and the public which bows to her will in the manner indicated, why did he not also crack his whip over Dumb David, who really should divide with Dora the responsibility for the jazz conditions of which he complains? It is idle to point out that Dumb Dora, who is in her teens or older and yet has the mentality of a

LETTERS TO The Times

Capital Punishment

HAWTHORNE, March 12.—[To the Editor of The Times:] Opposition to capital punishment is U.S.

Life imprisonment is practically synonymous to execution. Perpetual solitary confinement is slow death and more cruel than immediate hanging or electrocution, also prohibited by law, I believe.

All convicts for capital crimes are subject to instant execution from the over-loaded guns of guards in attempts to escape or resistance to prison authority.

What remedy is possible in case an imprisoned murderer commits one or more murders inside?

"Vengeance is mine," saith the Lord, and He tells us how thus: "Whose sheddest man's blood, by man shall his blood be shed."

Now you false humanitarians; you pouting sentimentalists, if you are sensible to ordinary reason, just remember when protesting against the way of God and righteous law that the burden is upon you inexorably to give us something better in place of what you so recklessly propose to abolish. Give us something logical and be sure it is true.

JOHN C. PICKEN,
Soldiers' Home.

Just Hell

ALHAMBRA, March 12.—[To the Editor of The Times:]

The people of New York and Boston and every other large city that made the same mistake of building an elevated railway hate that elevated. Ask the business men or citizens who live within five blocks of an elevated what they think of the El and the chances are they will curse it to your face. The deafening noises, the roar, let alone its ugliness and killer of real estate values, is enough to condemn such a structure.

Take Charlestown, that historical city lying across the ways from Boston Harbor. Bunker Hill never heard a louder cannonade during the battle of June 17, 1776, than it is experiencing to-night from the El. In Charlestown today is a dirty hole, with cheap tenement houses, rat-infested grocery stores, bootleg joints, with only two bright spots left, the Navy Yard and the Bunker Hill Monument.

Go to the Loop in Chicago and try to hear yourself talk. Business is moving away from the Loop and Chicago has started the construction of subways on a most gigantic scale.

To kill the value of real estate in any section of a city build an elevated street car system through it and see how quick your banker will give you a negative answer to a loan on the corner.

All the elevated lines for the future of the section become all stones-for-rent signs appear cheap lodging houses take the place of fashionable apartments, bootleg joints appear here and there; shady places somehow or other suddenly thrive where there was once sunshine and laughter.

CARL WINSLOW.

Such Innocence

WESTWOOD, March 14.—[To the Editor of The Times:] I'm sure that Elmer Ellsworth Helms can defend himself against Henry L. Weeks' criticism in Saturday's Times; but I wish to call attention to the fact that to call voluntary participation in the Volstead law "an innocent personal habit" is distortion of the truth.

This "innocent personal habit" is breaking the law, breaking hearts and homes and debasing the morale of men. It is the cause, directly or indirectly, of 95 per cent of all the crimes on our criminal records. It leads directly to murder, robbery and a host of other crimes—that is the reason why all good people want to place all forms of intoxicants where they belong: with other poisons which have been limited and restricted to a safe basis.

This cry of "logic" and "sense of proportion" from wet sources is too trivial to give much heed to—yet we must carry on inasmuch as certain unthinking people are sometimes influenced by them.

MRS. LILLIAN ROCKWELL.

TUNING UP

They are getting out the folders on the summer camping places.

They are passing propaganda telling where we'd better go; and the swell resorts are using all their arts and wiles and graces. Getting ready for the steady and uncaring summer flow!

In enthusiastic language do they speak of charms alluring,

Where no skeeters, fleas or bed-bugs are to be found;

And the climate and the water both are guaranteed so curing.

That you'd swear that you had landed in the future heaven spot!

They are placing advertisements in the magazines and papers.

Everyone is so enticing and so fetchingly displayed!

And the landlords are beginning to cut up the same old copies.

And to jolly-mint their victims do not seem to be afraid!

Now the man who kills your freckles with his tan eradicates them.

And his sun-burn dope and blister salve is coming to the fore!

You, we'll listen to the pleadings of the seashore agitator.

And the mount resort exploiter in about a fortnight more!

STUDY MIND OF THREAT WRITER

Doctors Examine Suspect in Silverwood Case

Eighth Letter Sent While Man is in Jail

Experts Agree in Ascribing Notes to Roberts

Federal physicians yesterday began a study of Samuel E. Roberts in the Los Angeles County Jail to determine whether an eighth of a series of threatening letters sent to G. E. Nagel, president of Silverwoods, Inc., was the instrument of a disordered brain or whether Roberts was endeavoring to create an impression of insanity to escape trial on charges of using the mail to defraud.

unable to furnish $10,000 bond asked by United States Commissioner following his second arrest three weeks ago, Roberts is in jail awaiting plea next Monday before United States Judge McCormick.

EXPERTS AGREED

Handwriting experts, according to Postal Inspector Kline and Detective Lieutenants Lloyd and Ladd, agreed yesterday that Roberts penned the majority of the eight letters sent to Mr. Nagel and A. K. Rebard, secretary of the concern, and Tyler B. Shaw, director of personnel, nearly all of the remaining two of the series late last year. Roberts was detained and questioned, but later was released when it was thought that he had been frightened. Two other messages in the series again started and last month Roberts was formally arrested and charged with sending them.

Obtaining his release on $1000 bond, Roberts again according to the records, was arrested and charged with sending them. Roberts is married.

The British Parliament has only three women members while the Reichstag in Germany has thirty-five feminine members.

KEEPS SILENT THREE MONTHS

Papago Indian Tried and Given Jail Sentence Without Speaking

(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH)

TUCSON (Ariz.) March 17. Three months of silence was the record of John Doe, Papago Indian, in the County Jail. He refused to talk with an attorney appointed to his defense, and maintained his attitude in the courtroom, though with evident understanding and appreciation of the procedure.

He was found guilty of aiding a Mexican in smuggling liquor across the international line, and will spend an additional ninety days in jail.

It was impossible for him to speak. Last Friday, while Roberts was behind steel bars, the eighth letter was received by the clothing-store executives, and it was couched in terms and written in the same hand as the others.

"I'll get you, Nagel, you hard, you Shaw and every man, woman and child in your employ," is believed by the investigating officers that Roberts was able to send the threatening letter to the outside by an outgoing prisoner who was unaware of its contents.

For the first time since the letters started no mention was made of money, and this was the first time that the name of Tyer Shaw was introduced.

Roberts is married.

The British Parliament has only three women members while the Reichstag in Germany has thirty-five feminine members.

LARCENY CASE OFF CALENDAR

Prosecutor Says Charge Against Meyer Morris May be Dismissed

Grand larceny charges against Meyer Morris, former head of the German-American Bond and Investment Company, were put off the calendar yesterday by Justice Ryan, and may, it was said, be dismissed. Ryan said he wants to investigate the case further, and he has information which indicates the arrest of Walter Guest, co-defendant of Morris and a fugitive from justice, may clear Morris entirely.

Morris, according to Ryan, asserts his arrest was brought about to break off his engagement to a Miss Gwendolyn and that Guest is the culprit. The girl, mother of Morris in jail, despite the charges and Ryan said he now has some evidence that Morris's story is true. The broker was charged with receiving $12,500. Guest was a salaried employee by Morris.

GOT WRONG MAN

"You've got the wrong man in jail," the letter explained, and then added:

"I'll get you, Nagel, you hard, you Shaw and every man, woman and child in your employ."

It is believed by the investigating officers that Roberts was able to send the threatening letter to the outside by an outgoing prisoner who was unaware of its contents.

For the first time since the letters started no mention was made of money, and this was the first time that the name of Tyer Shaw was introduced.

FOUR HURT IN ROOF COLLAPSE

Workmen Buried in Debris of Fire-Swept Building

Volunteers Rush Quartet to Receiving Hospital

One Victim May Die as Result of Serious Injuries

Four workmen employed by the Austin Construction Company were more or less seriously injured yesterday when the roof of a fire-swept building which they were repairing at 908 East Sixty-first street caved in suddenly, trapping them beneath the debris.

The four victims were extricated by volunteers and hurried to the Receiving Hospital. There physicians stated that one of them is so seriously injured he may die.

He is George Scards, 45 years of age, of 111 Wilshire.

Police stated that Scards was suffering from a possible skull fracture, several broken ribs and injuries to his spine.

The other three victims are Henry Wan, 47 years of age, of 111 Wilshire; Thomas O'Brien, who suffered a broken leg and other injuries; George W. Twifford, 52 years of age, of 348 East Sixty-ninth street, and J. Araiza, 23 years of age, of 428 Gates street, both of whom suffered severe head lacerations.

The building, a one-story structure, was badly damaged by fire Tuesday night and the four men were repairing the damage when the roof collapsed.

BUS PERMIT SOUGHT

The Los Angeles Railway Company yesterday filed an application in the local offices of the State Railroad Commission for a certificate to operate motor coach service on Manchester avenue from Market street in the city of Ingleside to Compton avenue in Los Angeles.

Thousands of persons killed in the blinking of an eyelash!

One moment taking part in a scene of pagan revelry and abandon—the next, fleeing the wrath of God with their city shaking and in flames!

That is one of the powerful spectacular climaxes of "The Wanderer," the newest Walshie's serial, which comes to the Metropolitan tomorrow for a limited engagement of one week only.

William Collier, Jr., has his greatest role in the production. George Nissen, beautiful Norwegian star, is Tisha, the exotic Babylonian siren who ensnares not only the prodigal but Ernest Torrence and Wallace Reid, as well as her charms. Other features relate to this brilliant cast are portrayed by Kathryn Williams, Kathryn Hill, Tyrone Power and Holmes Herbert.

The picture, which is closed by Jean L. Lahey with "The Covered Wagon" and other big Paramount specials, was originally scheduled for a long run at the Million Dollar, but due to unforeseen circumstances, bookings arrangements can be shown for a week only at the Metropolitan.

Orpheum's Fare for Next Week Made for Laughs

While there is a representative of almost every nationality on the Orpheum bill opening Monday matinees except the orientals, "will the Irish have it"—as usual. For the bill is headed by John Steel, and the Heasly, and closed by Ted Doner—and find any better Celtic names than those!

Steel, by right of conquest, remains a second week, with Mabel Stapleton, in new numbers all through; he never was in better voice or felt more like singing.

The Heasly, Ted and Betty, will offer "fun in the Healy manner." This means that, as in the musical comedies in which they were hits in New York, they will purvey all sorts of wacky comicalities.

And Ted Doner, star of "Lady Be Good," here, will always be famed for his dances, as well as his comedy vein and his smart cracks.

And to make everyone happy, there will unit with every other artist on the bill including a lot of pretty girls, in a great comedy carnival. This will be the high spot of the show, and the audience will be sure to be seated with its evolution in view, though every act is able to stand on its own for fair value.

The Stefano Mascagni ballet, with Eva as star, will be featured next week, followed by John Steel and Frey, the "how high is up" boys, return with a lot of new ones.

Then there are Chabot and Torton, "the boy from Belgium and the girl from France"; the six Hassens, whirling dervishes, acrobatics and the Northwest Police Band, under Eddie Elliot's baton.

Rex Beach Opus, "The Barrier," New State Bill

Rex Beach's immortal drama of the Tuken, "The Barrier," opens at Loew's State tomorrow with Norman Kerry, Marceline Day, Henry B. Walthall and Lionel Barrymore portraying the leading roles.

Kerry and Miss Day are the focus of romantic interest in the picture which is packed with high-power dramatic thrills.

The rescue of the girl from the whaling ship jammed in the ice floes, the wreck of the ship in the ice, the furious battle between the whalers and the natives, all are played by Barrymore, in the skin's cabin, the struggle between the first mate, essayed by Pat Harmon and Burrell's orderly, Sergeant Murphy, continue to keep the spectators on the edge of their seats throughout the film.

Just a short time remains to attend the performance of Lionel Barrymore in "The Copperhead" at the Playhouse, owing to the star's motion-picture contract.

ANNOUNCE LLOYD'S NEW FILM

World Premiere of "For Heaven's Sake" to Be Held in This City

"For Heaven's Sake!" said Harold Lloyd.

"That's what I say!" said Frank L. Newman, managing director of the Public Theaters, and the deal was made.

Harold's latest picture, "For Heaven's Sake," will have its world premiere at the Million Dollar next Thursday.

"For Heaven's Sake" is an exciting picture, the some, according to Mr. Newman, who declares that this is Lloyd's funniest comedy, without an exception.

The picture established Lloyd as a rich young man, the town who is the daughter of a slum missionary worker. Harold jumps in and tends his aid to the work of cleaning up the East Side, and gets himself into some lively scrapes.

Johnnie Ralston is his leading woman.

A lively prologue is being arranged to precede the photoplay.

The picture runs at the Lloyd, and its showing in Los Angeles will precede by several weeks its exhibition in other cities.

"Irene," Colleen Moore's intimate, has been delayed, and its final showing next Wednesday to make way for the new Lloyd comedy.

JURY DRINKS STATE'S EXHIBIT

Court Passes Bottle for "Testing"

Verdict of Not Guilty is Returned

"Call on Us Again," Says Talesman

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent
SANTA MONICA, March 17.—Where a full pint had been before, only a third of a pint remains today. The whisky was evidence in a case of alleged liquor-law violation, and the jury "examined" that bottle.

J. J. Ange was acquitted by a jury in Police Judge Spooers' court. Evidence was introduced in the case to show that the bottle of whisky—now only a third of a bottle—had been purchased legally on the presumption of the well-known Santa Monica business man's family. The same jury which pronounced the "evidence" good, also found it legal and enjoyed the "findings," according to court officials. The man who sold him the bottle was alleged to be illiterate when found on Ange's person according to reports, elicited no adverse allegations concerning its flavor.

"Call on Us Again," one juror is reported to have said as he left the court, generously and with loyalty to his duty as a citizen. Many agreed it had been an unusually interesting legal case, involving elements making it advisable for the jurors to examine the liquor in the court house, and as well to both smell and taste it if necessary for purposes of identification. Whether they smelled it or not is said to have little to do with the fact that two-thirds of a pint vanished from the bottle.

An echo from the seemingly endless troubles of the Los Angeles County Jail was heard at the trial when Deputy Sheriff Charles Dice was called to "The Leaky City," as one heartless critic termed it, just as he had been about to take the witness stand in the Hugor case. Dice was wanted immediately to help capture escaped prisoners.

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent
HANFORD, March 17.—One of the real pioneer women of California, Mrs. Evelyn Robinson, who came west in a covered wagon and resided in this city for fifty-three years, seeing it developed from a barren plain to what is now the well-known Kern County village, has arrived in Los Angeles last Monday after the home of her daughter, Mrs. Mary E. Malcolm, aged 96 years.

Her funeral takes place in this city tomorrow and the remains will be buried in the cemetery of old Pioneer Cemetery near Grangerville, beside those of her husband, J. T. Robinson. Besides her daughter in Los Angeles, this old pioneer woman has five other children, Mrs. Franklin Pendleton of Fresno; Edward S. Robinson of Esparo, and Mrs. Emma J. Smith, J. BUYS AUTO THEIVES

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent
OXNARD, March 17.—Automobile thieves have been working in Oxnard for the past two weeks, during which time a dozen or more machines have been stolen from city streets. One was taken from a main corner in the business district in broad daylight.

WOMAN AID IN LIQUOR SMUGGLING

Sheriff at Santa Barbara Promises New Sensational Developments

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent
SANTA BARBARA, March 17.—The cloak of mystery surrounding operations of liquor smugglers along the Santa Barbara coast is finally lifted this morning. Sheriff Ross and when all details are known a prominent woman as well as Santa Barbara men are expected to be involved. The Sheriff revealed today that not only did he hear of 18 cases of liquor being taken in Montecito Monday morning but prevented another landing.

Sheriff Ross said that he recognized the man in charge of operations and that he was known to a resident of Santa Barbara who has never been apprehended by local officers for violation of liquor laws. A woman he knew here was assisting the Sheriff said. The boat attempting to make the landing, put to sea before officers could seize it and has not been seen since.

A long distance telephone call from Los Angeles yesterday afternoon brought information to the Sheriff that $500 cash bail will be offered today to clear up charges against the man who lost his license Monday morning, although he is not known to the officers. This will be sufficient to release a large truck which Dist.-Atty. Clarence C. Ward has ruled cannot be confiscated. The man who refused to name the Sheriff yesterday refused to give his name but asserted he will get in communication with officers today.

Judge Refuses to Drop Charge Against Banker

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent
FRESNO, March 17.—A defense motion to quash an indictment against William Mitchell, former president of the Valley Bank, charging that he accepted a compensation in loan made by the Bank of Lehigh of which he was an officer, was denied by Judge Bernard today.

Mitchell will be arraigned at 1:30 p.m. Friday on the indictment, the last of three charges filed against him in connection with the criminal investigation of the affairs of the bank.

George Cosgrave, attorney for Mitchell, argued today that the indictment should be quashed because the prosecution's proof of the testimony of witnesses and taking of testimony were not followed by the grand jury. Chief Deputy Dist.-Atty. Walling countered with the argument that no new witness was called because the facts involved were the same as those in the prior indictment which was quashed by the court on demur.

PARENTS ABANDON TWO STURDY BABES

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent
SANTA ANA, March 17.—Two sturdy babies, a girl, 6 weeks old and a boy approximately 20 months old were found abandoned on the sidewalk in front of the home of H. P. Baker, 1509 Dresner Street, at 7 o'clock last night.

Both children, chilled by the night air, were taken into the Baker home where they were warmed and later removed to the Orange County Hospital by police.

Officers are searching the city for the mother and father of the infants whose pitiful cries attracted the attention of members of the Baker family and who were staying at the home at the time.

Workmen are to be put on in shifts and electric lights are now being installed to furnish light for the crews which work during the night.

HAD HEART ATTACK

American Claim Death Due to Natural Causes

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent
SAN DIEGO, March 17.—Lower California officials today denied the reports that Carl Reynolds of Huntington Beach, who died at the Juana last Monday morning, had been beaten and clubbed by Mexican police. The coroner corroborated by a statement from the Smith, Goodbody & Dunn undertaking establishment, which has charge of the body, they saying there were no marks to show that Reynolds had been roughly handled.

An autopsy performed by Mexican physicians showed that Reynolds died of a heart attack and that there was a blood clot on his brain.

Dr. Brown, who accompanied Reynolds to the border town, was detained by the Tia Juana police until he became sober enough to make a deposition as to facts concerning Reynolds' death and was then released. Reynolds' body will be sent to Huntington Park for burial.

His body was found by Robert Berlin of Banning on his way home from a trip through the mountains. At first he believed the man to be sleeping. Berlin went on, but upon thinking it over, decided to return. Discovering Vivian to be dead, he went to Banning, where he notified the authorities.

Coroner's inquest was summoned this morning, but did not state the cause of death. No marks of violence were found on the body, and the Coroner believes death came by natural causes.

Reynolds is said to have a brother, Albert Vivian, on a ranch near Whitewater, and efforts are being made to communicate with him. Whether or not he leaves his property is not known.

MAKE PLAN TO HURRY DELIVERY

Raisin Men Arrange to Get Crop to Market When Prices Are Highest

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent
PASADENA, March 17.—First steps toward expediting the handling of the 1926 raisin crop were taken by the advisory council of the Sun-Maid Raisin Growers today, when President Ralph F. Merritt, in addressing their monthly meeting urged earlier deliveries on the smaller pools, the market through which higher prices and earlier delivery can be had.

In connection with the meeting it was announced by the time the first crop delivery starts in September, a total of 700,000 tons of raisins in the three-year period since the reorganization. As a matter of comparison it was pointed out that the greatest tonnage marketable in the period prior to 1922 was 352,000 tons.

The syrup plant, through which standard and off-grade raisins are converted by Sun-Maid, will be opened in the fall of 1926. All the 1925 crop has been graded, but because of the small amount of low-grade stock delivered there is not enough to necessitate construction of the syrup plant until the new crop matures.

Founding of Camp Fire Girls
Also Celebrated

BY PAUL SHEEDY

St. Patrick's Day was fittingly celebrated last evening from the tower studio of The Times when the Broadway Department Store, sponsor of so many delightful entertainments from KHZ, again reigned before the microphone, presenting a group of stellar artists, with the entire program from 8 until 10 p.m. dedicated to the songs and melodies of old Ireland.

A big feature of the evening was the singing in original Gaelic of groups of old Irish folk songs by William Bone, giving all the haunting cadences of this ancient tongue and the words of the "Song of the Land of Saints and Scholars" in these almost forgotten songs. The Orpheus Four Male Quartet also had a program of Irish songs selected from their wide repertoire, with the instrumental portion of the concert admirably given by the talented Arion sextet under the direction of Neva Thompson, violin; Dorothy Dodd, accompanied violin; and a group of excellent soprano soloists.

HARP ADDS TOUCH

A particularly fitting touch was given to the evening by Maude Haskins, talented harpist, playing this instrument so long identified with Old Erin, even playing a prominent part in the decoration of the stage. The legend of the origin of the harp was told, taking it back to its mention in 1345 in the writings of Geillee, telling that it had been played in Ireland 1,000 years ago prior to that date early, and down to the days when Queen Elizabeth in her vain attempts to smother the Irish national spirit had Parliament pass an act forbidding the playing of harps in Ireland under pain of imprisonment for the harpists.

Even Italy paid its respects to the memory of Ireland's patron saint when Piero D. Pacifici, arch of the racing drivers of America, appeared, before the microphone earlier in the evening with Maurice Fred J. Wagner, Internationally known racing driver, Harry Hartz, racing pilot, and Jack Prince, builder of the great speedways. These celebrities extended their greetings to Radialand in honor of the approaching 50-mile championship clash this Sunday at the famous Culver City speedway, when eighteen leaders in the racing world will battle for 250 miles in the annual spring speed duel for $25,000.

The children's hour was opened by Beatrice Marsh, 9-year-old singer, followed by Dick Winslow, the screen juvenile reporter; Virginia Marie, the "Blue Bell of KHZ"; Elizabeth, 9-year-old singer; Glenn Flitz, juvenile reader; the "Listener-in of KHZ" with a group of her old-time plantation melody and juba songs; George C. This was followed by an array of numbers from the cast of musicals at the Thompson Progressive School for Saxophones presenting Kathryn Thompson and Louis Lippolito, concert saxophonists; Roger Neale, violin, and Roland Pendleton, saxophone.
